DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 6, 7, 9-13, 27-30, 33 and 34 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species or group, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on March 28, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-5, 8, 14-26, 31, 32 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,916,464 (Hansenne et al).

Hansenne et al disclose sunscreen compositions comprising a silicone-polyamide copolymer, reading on the presently claimed structuring polymer, an oil, reading on the presently claimed oil, and additional ingredients, embracing the presently claimed silicone elastomer component. Suitable silicone elastomers include the products sold under the names of KSG, by Shin-Etsu. Also noted is the citation of the publication to Hybrid-silicone powders (front page). The composition can be in the form of a gel or stick.

In essence, the disclosure of the reference differs from the present claims in not expressly exemplifying the use of the optional silicone elastomer component, which reads on the presently claimed silicone elastomer. It is maintained, however, that it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have additionally incorporated a silicone elastomer falling within the scope of the present claims for its attendant function since said embodiment is clearly disclosed by patentees. Absent evidence of unusual or unexpected results, no patentability can be seen in the presently claimed subject matter.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed February 2, with respect to Barr et al and Inokuchi, have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection over said prior art has been withdrawn.
